

Characterizing ecosystem metabolism across climatic and vegetation gradients in California with imaging spectroscopy and thermal infrared (IR) imagery

Objective: Utilize HypsIRI-like imagery to estimate photosynthetic capacity seasonally and across diverse vegetation types

